A wheel is a circular component that is intended to rotate on an axle bearing. The wheel is one of the six simple machines, and it is used in many different ways. In the world of payments and purchases, it is important to understand two terms used when a buyer wants to return a product: "full refund" and "partial refund". These terms are related to the form in which you can receive your funds back.

Full refund: This means that the buyer receives all the value paid for the product, including taxes and fees.

Example: If you bought a product for R$ 100.00 and paid R$ 10.00 in additional taxes and fees, the total paid would be R$ 110.00. With a "full refund", all these R$ 110.00 would be returned to your payment method.

Partial refund: This means that the buyer receives only a portion of the value paid for the product.
